

EON SITUATION ROOM

Situation Room Creator

Build your own Netflix-style safety academy.

NOW IN PRIVATE BETA · BY INVITATION

Three ways of learning in one course. A 360° view of competence. Your own library, easily.

ALREADY LIVE

Situation Room, told like a series

Real-world situations. Every one starts from what really went wrong — what happened, why, how often, and what it cost.

Learners browse by poster and preview clip, like a streaming service.

THE PROBLEM

Training is scattered. Completion isn't competence.

Quizzes in one system

The learning management system

Manuals in another

PDFs in shared folders

Simulators in a third

A separate platform, if at all

You see who finished — not who can do the job safely.

And custom courses built from your own procedures and incidents have been slow and costly to create.

The screenshot shows the 'Situation Room Creator' interface. At the top, it says 'YOUR COMPANY · CREATE A COURSE' and 'Situation Room Creator'. Below that, it says '12 steps: today's 9, plus Review, Activities and Scoring.' On the left is a vertical sidebar with 12 steps: 1. Customer (checked), 2. Start (highlighted), 3. Processing, 4. Courses → situations, 5. AI generation, 6. Review (NEW), 7. Outputs, 8. Poster & video, 9. Create program, 10. Link courses, 11. Activities (NEW), 12. Scoring (NEW). The main area is titled 'How would you like to start?' and says 'Train AI and AI Ready are today's two ways in. Pick an accident is new.' There are three options: 'Train AI' (Upload up to 5 documents (DOCX, PDF, PPT...)), 'AI Ready' (Describe the course by hand), and 'Pick an accident' (NEW) (Adopt or adapt one of the 120 public situations). The 'Pick an accident' option is selected. Below it is a search bar with 'stored pressure' entered. A table lists four accidents: 'Stored-Pressure Release During Maintenance (LOTO)' (critical), 'Nitrogen Asphyxiation in a Confined Space' (critical), 'Hot Work Ignition of Trapped Flammable Vapor' (critical), and 'Distillation Column Overfill on Start-Up' (critical). Each row has 'Adopt' and 'Adapt' buttons. At the bottom are 'Back' and 'Next' buttons.

MADE FOR TODAY'S LEARNERS

Built for the streaming generation

Gen Z grew up choosing what to watch. Training that looks and feels like the media they choose is training they open.

■ Attract

Posters and preview clips make a course worth opening

■ Motivate

Short, visual steps and visible progress

■ Remember

Stories about what went wrong stick

Every course gets its own poster and preview clip, generated and then approved before publishing.

GROW YOUR PROGRAMME

See the whole picture

Coming during the beta: every course can show the full set of EON capabilities.

Products you haven't added yet will appear greyed out, with an Upgrade button, so your people and programme owners can see what a complete course could include.

Add-ons, arriving in later beta stages: EON Tacit · Brainy Soft Skills · Field IQ · Assess IQ · Permit IQ
